BOLTON WANDERERS v BURNLEY

DOUGIE FREEDMAN

Good afternoon and welcome back to the Reebok Stadium. I'd also like to extend those wishes to Sean Dyche and his Burnley side, staff and supporters, as well as today's match sponsors Mercedes Benz.

This afternoon's game is the first of three North West derbies between now and the end of the season. Each one of those games highlights the quality that we are coming up against week in week out in this division.

I am really looking forward to the match and I am sure there will be a cracking atmosphere with two sides going all out for the points.

Burnley have been performing well of late and we know we face a stern test. However, we also know that we have the quality in our squad to deal with Burnley's threats.

Whilst our recent performances may not have returned the points we would have hoped for, and in some cases deserved. I believe that we have not been playing badly. We need to work on ensuring that as a unit, when we take the lead, we close the game down.

Against Watford I felt we played some very good football. We moved the ball well, pressed high up the park and worked at a very high tempo. We were effective in containing a very strong Watford side.

I was disappointed that we conceded so quickly after taking the lead, but in the second half we were always dangerous. I would have liked us to have put more pressure on their goal than we did, but we were very much the better side for large parts of the game.

In our last home game against Everton I also thought we were excellent. At the very least we merited a replay and our game-plan saw us deal with the threats that they had. It was cruel to lose the goal so late on but we competed strongly right across the park and games can turn on a moment.

We added a total of six new faces to our squad over what was a very good transfer window for the football club.

In Cian Bolger and Jan Gergus we have strengthened our development squad. They are two very talented young players. I was also delighted to bring Steve De Ridder, Craig Davies, Craig Dawson and Medo Kamara.

Steve is an out and out winger and one I am looking forward working with whilst I have tracked Medo for some time and to have been able to add him to the squad is a huge coup.

All of the new lads have all settled in quickly. It is pleasing to see the attitude of the entire squad and the new players have added to that with their effort and desire to continue to progress.

Once again, thank you for your support.

KEVIN DAVIES

Hello and welcome back to the Reebok for this afternoon's visit of Burnley.

As always, we all know how important winning football matches is. After the result at Watford all of the lads were bitterly disappointed, but we know that we aren't far away from picking up a run of results.

You only have to look at our recent performances against Sunderland, both home and away, Everton and the weekend's game at Watford to realise we are actually playing some decent football. Unfortunately, our results aren't reflecting that.

For the majority of the first half we pressed Watford high up the park and sitting on the bench you could sense the anxiety amongst the home supporters. We were in a very strong position. Unfortunately, for one reason or another, when they equalised we seemed to lose a bit of momentum. Saying that, even after the break much of the game was played in the Watford half.

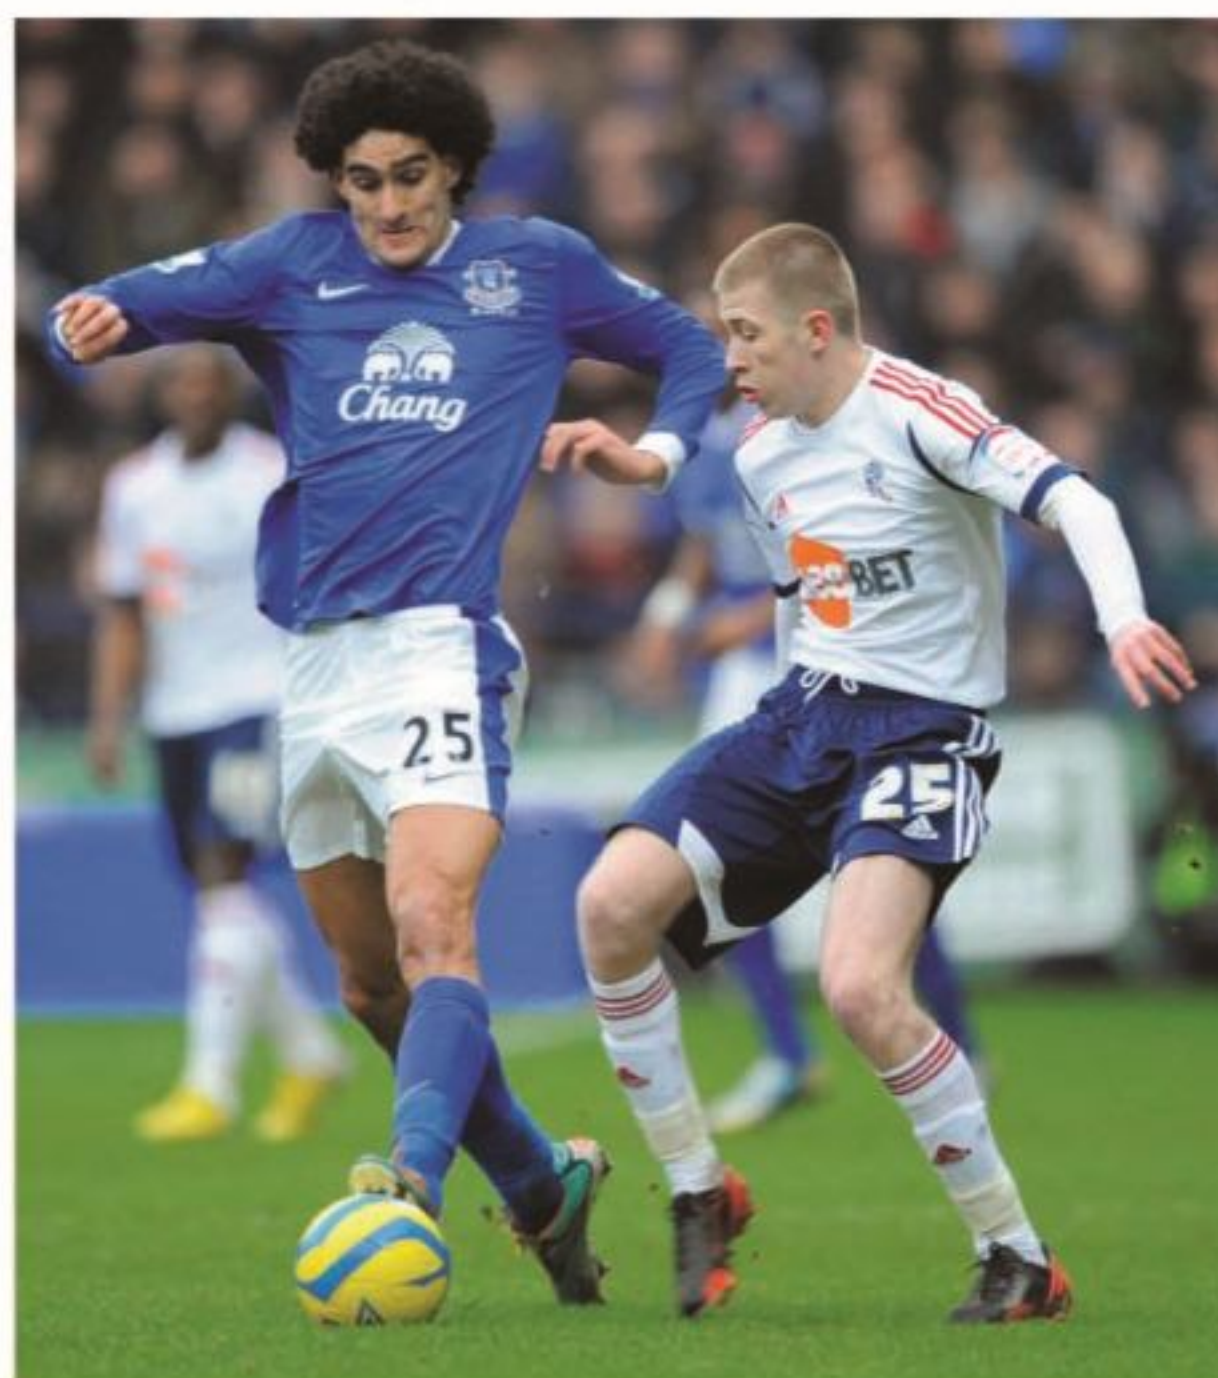

That result has been and gone now and all we can do is focus on the next game. We can have no excuses. We have got a good enough squad and we all know we should be higher up the league table. Regardless of what's said we'll all continue to stick together.

Our hard work has continued on the training ground this week and the new signings have added an extra competitiveness in training. Everyone is striving to be at their best. We've got good competition for places and everyone knows they've got to reach the high standards that are set in place by the manager and his staff.

Not only having the new signings in training, but to have been able to welcome back the likes of Mark Davies, David Wheater and Stuart Holden in recent weeks has given everyone a boost. Everyone knows all knows of their quality.

It has also been great to see Josh Vela turn in a couple of accomplished performances in the first team. He's always fully committed in training and gives as good as he gets. I thought his performances over the last few weeks have been of a high standard and he has certainly got a big future in the game.

There's no doubt that we've got another difficult game ahead of us this afternoon. We've already seen what a good side Burnley are this season. They have got goalscorers in their side and when you have one of those you have always got a chance of winning games.

I thought that the atmosphere in the game against Everton was superb. As always, the lads really appreciate your support.

Hopefully we can send you home happy with three derby day points this afternoon.

IN MEMORIAM

Lifelong Bolton fan Kenneth Nisbet was born in Bolton on 29 August, 1920 and lived in the town all his life until his death on 29 January, 2013.

He attended his first Wanderers' game on Christmas Day 1930, and his last game was at the Reebok against Millwall on 12 January, 2013, giving him just over 82 years as an active supporter and being a season ticket holder for the bulk of them.

Our thoughts are with all his family at this time of loss as we celebrate a man who was a Wanderer to his core.

AUSTRALIAN SCHOOL VISIT BWFCISS

Bolton Wanderers International Soccer School have recently received a visit from Australian-based Merewether High School, who are currently on a tour of England.

The co-educational, academically selective high school were met by two of the ISS coaches Luke Ogilvie and Dale Spencer who delivered a three day programme based around the ISS philosophy of the four As, two touch football and small sided practices.

ACADEMY GRADUATES DROP IN ON COACHING SESSION

Academy graduates Joe Riley and Josh Vela were surprise guests at a Bolton Wanderers Community Trust School of Football coaching session at Lever Park School in Horwich, as the pair dropped in to meet young budding footballers from Horwich RMI U12's team.

The duo spent time with the group of youngsters answering questions about their footballing role models as well as passing on tips and advice to the team encouraging them to work hard and continue enjoying their football.

Joe and Josh then got involved with some of the coaching drills before taking to the sidelines to watch a small sided game and they rounded off their visit with some photographs and autographs.

GROUNDSTAFF AND VOLUNTARIES COMPLETE SUCCESSFUL CLEAN-UP OPERATION

The club mounted a successful clean-up operation following heavy snowfall before Wanderers' fourth round FA Cup tie against Everton.

The club's groundstaff, led by head groundsman Richard Norton, worked tirelessly from early Friday evening and throughout the night to combat the snow. Club staff and Bolton fans gathered at the Reebok from the early hours to help remove the six inches of snow from the pitch and surrounding areas.

The club would like to thank everyone involved, especially the groundstaff whose dedication and hard work ensure Wanderers have the best playing surfaces for practice, training and matches all year round.

ENTER THE BLUE DRAGON

Does he really drink frog juice before games? Why does he wear shirt number 27? Where does the nickname 'Blue Dragon' originate from? And is he really that bad at FIFA?

WE PUT YOUR QUESTIONS TO...

CHUNG-YONG LEE

Chung-Yong Lee may not be a big believer in superstitions, but the energetic winger became somewhat of a lucky charm for Wanderers. Prior to this season, Bolton had never lost a game in which the 24-year-old had scored in - a fortunate run that spanned over three years - but there has certainly been no luck involved in Lee's rise to the top.

The Korean winger would be a relatively late starter into the world of football, first playing the sport at the age of 10, where his talent was quickly evident. He secured a move to Bolton from FC Seoul in 2009, and he has gone on to make over 100 appearances for the Trotters, scoring 14 goals.

Away from the game the diminutive South Korean international can be found with former Manchester United midfielder and close friend Ji-Sung Park, as the former national team room-mates remain close to their roots, regularly dishing-up Korean-based delicacies together.

When he travels back to Korea, the 24-year-old is a regular at local cinema complexes watching all the latest films on the big screen.

The official matchday programme sat down with the fans' favourite to ask him your questions.

Chungy, it is great to see you back on the pitch playing for Wanderers. How does it feel?

Jeff Bullock via email

It feels good to be back and I am really enjoying playing regular football. When I originally made my first team return it took me some time to get up to the speed of the game. Now that there is no more pain in my leg from the injury I feel that I can be getting better and better with every game I play. The more games I play the more confident I feel and I believe that I can continue to develop and reach higher levels than before my injury.

How is your leg now? And how difficult was it to spend so much time on the sidelines during the injury? Is it true you used to play FIFA with Park Ji-Sung to help pass the time?

Alistair McArthur via Facebook

Yes, that is true. I used to play games with Park a lot when he was in Manchester United. We didn't play FIFA though, it was a football game called Winning Eleven on the PS2. He was very good. We don't play as much since he moved to QPR. Last season also I would play a lot with Ryo Miyaichi and always I would win!

My leg feels fine now and there is no pain at all. It was a very difficult time in not only my defender and

I played

career, but also my life. It has been really difficult to be away from football for such a long time. Personally, it was very hard time for me as I was unable to do what I love. But that time has gone and I am now just looking forward.

I just try to forget about that whole injury. It was an unfortunate part of my career and it was a challenging period for me, but now I am determined to just concentrate on getting better and continuing to improve my game now that I am back fit and playing regularly.

What did you think when you heard that Bolton wanted to sign you from FC Seoul in 2009? Had you ever even heard of Bolton!?

Vicky Rhodes via email

I remember a scout from Bolton came to see me play in South Korea. My agent told me before the game and I was excited. It was in a World Cup qualifier against Saudi Arabia. I was very happy to hear that a club like Bolton was interested in me and it was a game in which I played well.

Bolton made an offer to FC Seoul three times by letter but Seoul thought they were fakes! They didn't believe that Bolton wanted to sign me and they thought it was a joke by some supporters! I think after the third time they started to believe.

I had watched Bolton play in the 2007 Peace Cup, a pre-season tournament in Korea. I was in the stadium when Bolton were playing against Lyon in the final. I remember sitting in my seat watching Kevin Davies, Nicolas Anelka, Ivan Campo, Jussi Jaaskelainen, Ricardo Gardner and Nicky Hunt. I remember a lot of the players.

Who is your favourite K League team?

Ming-Chung Gook via Twitter

I have to say FC Seoul is my best team because I used to play for them. Every season I want them to be the champions of Korea.

What hobbies did you have growing up? Are you good at any other sports? Baseball maybe?

Dae-Ho via Facebook

Yes, I like baseball lots. I had a few hobbies growing up. I used to play baseball and basketball with my friends everyday while at school. I thought that I was quite good at both sports, but I wasn't very tall when I was younger so I sometimes struggled when we played basketball. I also used to play badminton which is a very popular sport back in South Korea.

How did you first get involved in football?

Su-Jung Suk via email

I first started playing football at the age of 10 while at school and I really enjoyed it. At middle school, we had to be in classes until 3pm, after that we all played football for two hours before we had dinner. But after dinner we would play football again!

What team did you play for when you were growing up and when did you join FC Seoul?

Harry Hinsley via Twitter

My first team was my school team. We had a very good team and many scouts used to come and watch our games. FC Seoul scouts attended a few of our games, and after one match the club went and spoke to my mother. My middle school coach then came and spoke to me to tell me that they wanted to sign me.

I was extremely happy. I was also pleased because normally in Korea you go to high school, then university and then you would gain a professional contract. But I was able to go straight from middle school to the professional game and that gave me more time to develop and play at a higher level.

What was it like playing under the former Turkey manager Senol Gunes while at FC Seoul?

Zola Doda via email

He is a great man. At the end of my third year with the club, Senol Gunes was appointed as Seoul's new manager. I didn't know what to expect and he quickly made some changes. He made the players in the academy live together.

He also took both myself and Ki Sung-Yueng, who is now at Swansea, from the reserves into the first team. I don't think either of us were good players at that time but he gave us our first opportunities to impress in the senior side. He gave us the experience we needed so we were very lucky to get that opportunity. I still speak to him today as he is now the head coach at Trabzonspor.

What was it like progressing through the academy at FC Seoul? What did a usual day consist of?

Kate Sampson via email

In the morning we would have breakfast then we head to the training ground, go the gym, play football tennis and then we had lunch together. After lunch we had our main training session with staff, then we had dinner, sometimes we'd go to gym, and sometimes we'd play PlayStation. For all of the time the players would be together. We had a lot of fun and knew each other well which helped us when we played in the pitch.

Who are your best friends in football? Who did you play with while at FC Seoul?

Yun-Ji Bo via Twitter

At FC Seoul I played with Ki Sung-Yueng of Swansea and Arsenal's Park Chu-Young. Many of the other young players still play in Korea today. We all lived together during our time at FC Seoul and had a lot of fun. I regularly chat with Ki Sung-Yueng, Park Chu-Young and Ji-Sung Park. I sometimes go out for meals with them. I also talk to Ji Dong-Won, especially when he was in England playing with Sunderland. I am still in touch with a lot of Korean players who still play at home as well.

I have also made a lot of friends here in England. The skipper (Kevin Davies) will always be my friend. He helps me a lot.

Why do you wear the number 27? I've heard it is your lucky number.

Alex Dempsey via Facebook

When I first started playing football professionally in Korea I was given the number 27 shirt. FC Seoul fans always remember me as '27 Chung-Yong Lee,' so I have continued to use that same number here with Bolton.

You are stranded on a desert island. Which two members of the Bolton squad would you take with you?

Tom Hatz via Twitter

I would take Kevin Davies because I trust him very much and he is very strong. Also I would take Mark Davies as he always makes me laugh.

Where did the nickname 'Blue Dragon' originate from?

Tessa Greer via Twitter

My name in Korean roughly translates to 'Blue Dragon'. That's it really.

Is it true that you don't drink coffee or beer?

Bill Lantowitz via email

Yes it is true, I don't like to drink coffee. I don't like the taste at all. As for beer, I had never tried it before I came to England. Now I have and I don't like it at all. It doesn't taste nice to me also.

How popular is football in Korea? Is it true that in Korea you're regarded as the Korean David Beckham?

Andrew Taylor via Facebook

David Beckham on his own is popular in Korea! Ji-Sung Park is the most popular Korean, but I too get fans looking for me! Football is big, but also baseball.

How often do you go to the cinema? I saw you up at Middlebrook a few weeks ago buying a slush puppy!

John Davenport via Twitter

It cannot be me. I only go once or twice here in England. If I am home in Korea I will go to the movies a lot, I would say about three or four times a month.

Have you always played on the wing? How do you fancy yourself as a striker?

Donna McQueen via Facebook

I used to play in striker in FC Seoul. After a year I went into right-back for two or three years. I was a wing-back in a 3-5-2 formation. While playing for the South Korean Under-20 national team, I played as a defender and in the midfield, I played everywhere! I think this time helped me develop into the player I am today. It was not my preferred positions but I learnt a lot.

Can you explain your goal celebration? Why do you kiss your finger when you score?

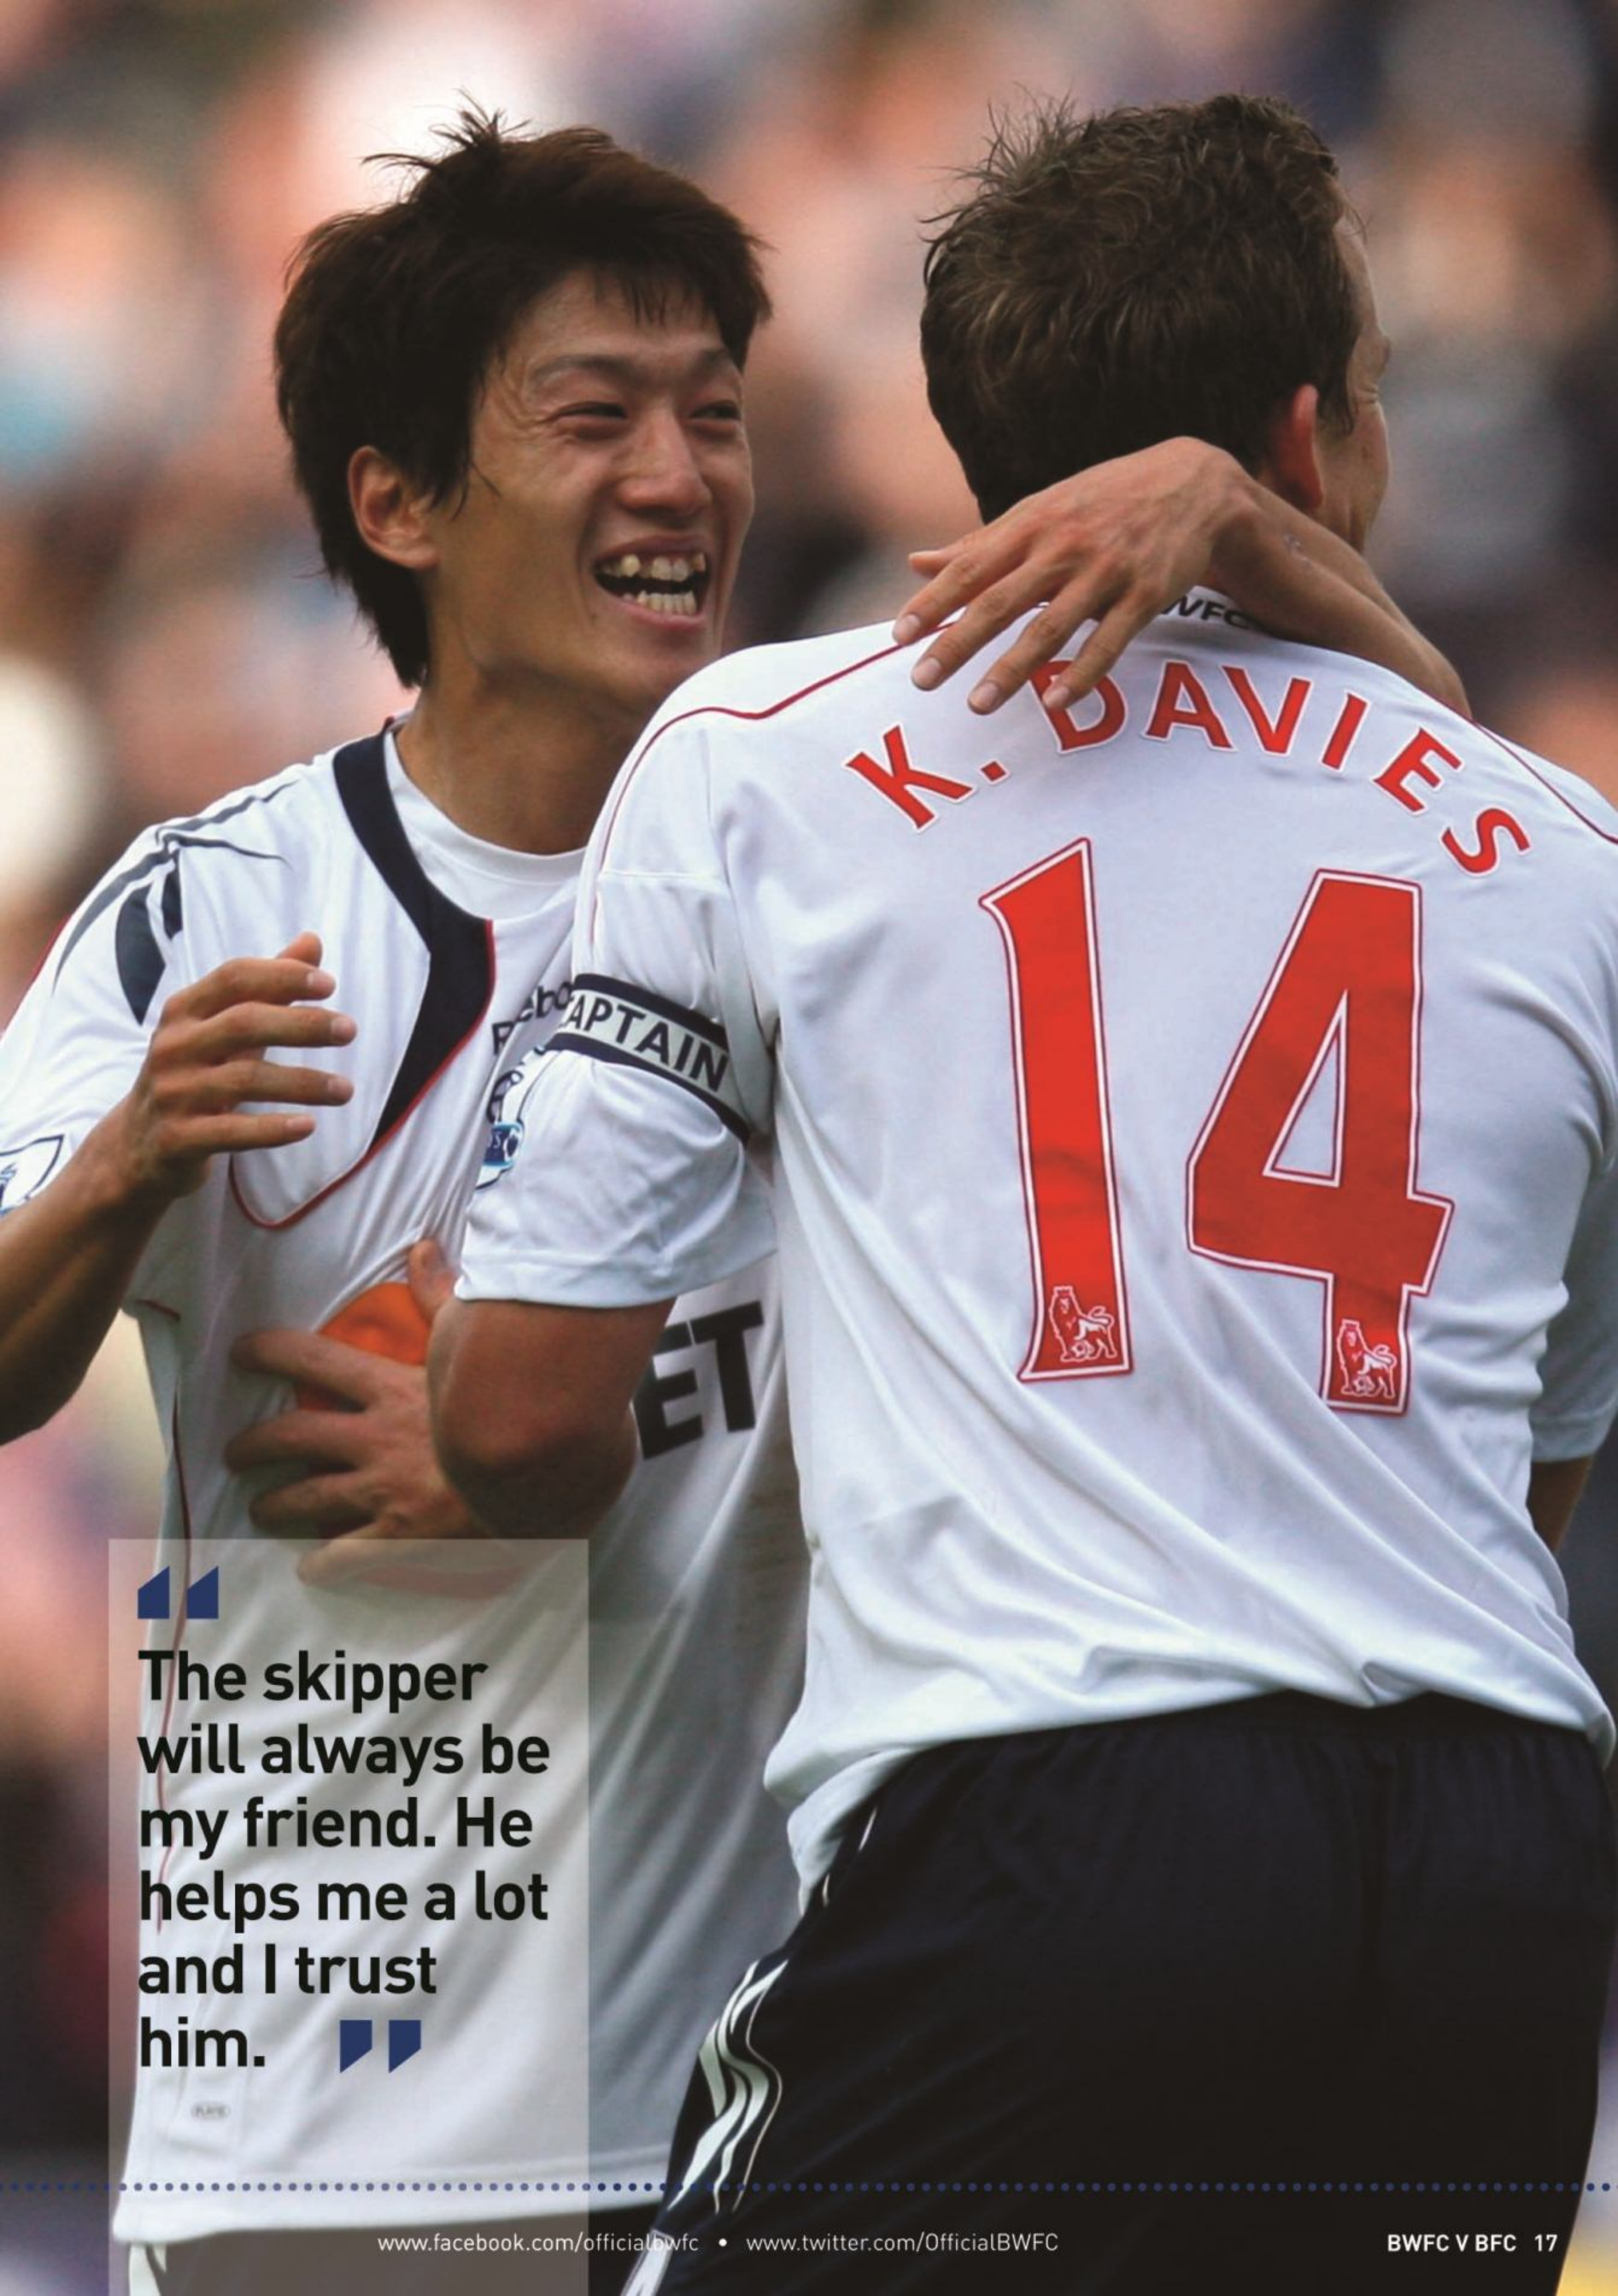

William Hucker via Twitter

It is for my girlfriend. When I score I like to think about my family and my girlfriend and that is how I do that. I like to also thank them and the fans for the support they have shown me, and I think this is a way that I can show my appreciation.

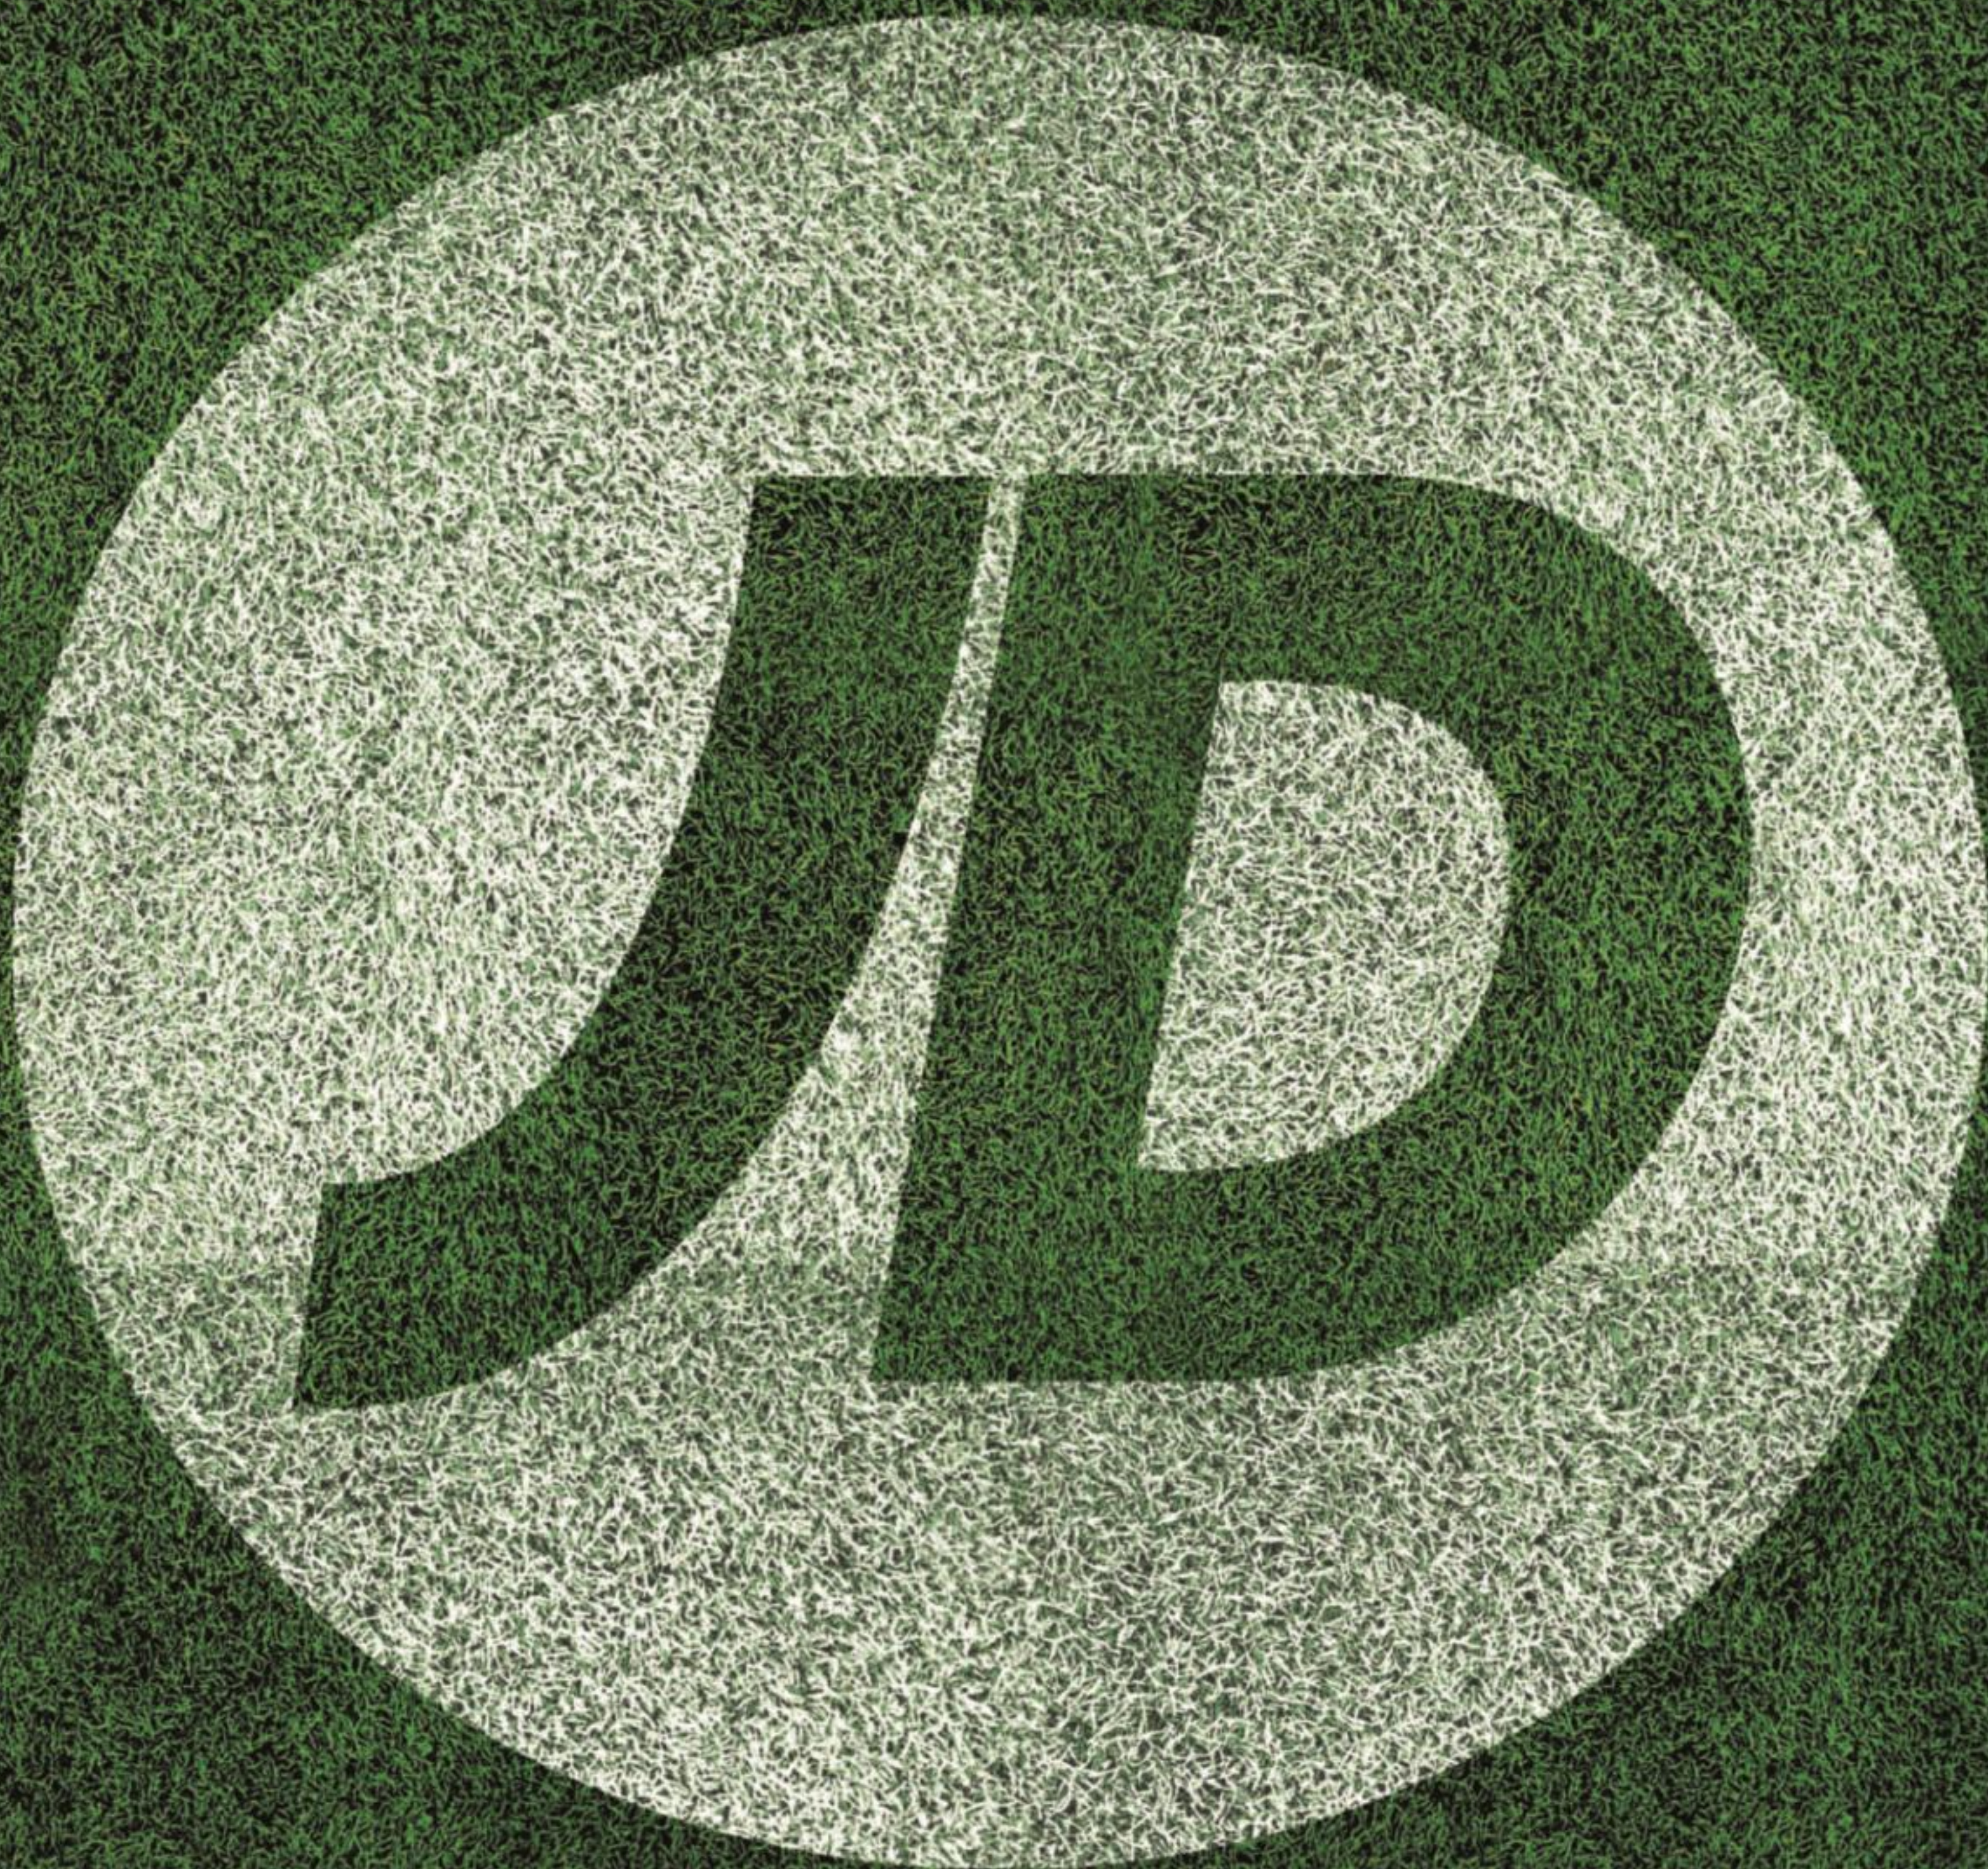

Is it true that you drink frog juice before a game?

San-Lee Jun via email

No I don't. This was said in the newspaper before. Sometimes my mother will make me soup when she is here in England. It makes me feel good, but I don't have it before every game. I normally drink water or Powerade before games.

WATFORD V WANDERERS

Amen Abdi's second-half strike denied Wanderers a point on the road, after Marvin Sordell claimed the Whites' only goal on his return to Vicarage Road.

Referee James Alcock pointed to the spot on 32 minutes after Sam Ricketts was fouled in the area by Daniel Pudil, and the former Watford man sent Manuel Almunia the wrong way from 12 yards.

But Vydra replied four minutes later before Abdi finished from the edge of the area midway through the second half to seal victory for the hosts.

The number of points Forest recorded at home last season: 26

Current season record: P30 W10 D11 L9

It's been 12 years since Wanderers last visited the City Ground and a lot has happened at Forest since then.

The club were relegated to the third tier of English football in 2005, bounced back to the Championship in 2008 and underwent a change of ownership in July 2012.

On completion of their takeover, the Kuwaiti Al Hawasi family announced a three to five year plan and appointed former first team coach Sean O'Driscoll as manager.

But a steady start to the season and a 4-2 win against Leeds United on Boxing Day wasn't enough to keep the ex-Doncaster chief in his job.

Following that impressive victory over Neil Warnock's side, O'Driscoll was sacked and replaced by former Birmingham City and Aston Villa manager, Alex McLeish. And the Scot wasted little time in putting his own stamp on the squad.

West Brom defender Gonzalo Jara and Norwich City's Elliot Ward have both arrived on loan, and, following a successful trial, Stephen McLaughlin joined from Irish outfit Derry City.

Those new faces were joined by Millwall striker Darius Henderson who has been a regular goal-getter in the Championship over the last couple of seasons, averaging more than a goal every two games during his time at the Den.

But McLeish's rein in charge at the City Ground would only last 40 days after the 54-year-old left the club by mutual consent on 5 February.

Last Time We Were There...

Forest 0 Bolton 2 – March 2001

Wanderers secured three points in their Division One fixture thanks to Dean Holdsworth's 200th career goal, and Gareth Farrelly's stoppage-time effort. The Whites went on to clinch promotion, while Forest finished that season in 11th place.

TOP TENS One Appearance Wanderers

WORDS: MARK HEYS

When Wanderers travelled to Burnley on the opening day of their 1977/78 promotion-winning season, their starting line-up included a young right-back by the name of Andy Clements. Wanderers had to do without the services of the more experienced John Ritson and Peter Nicholson and this meant manager Ian Greaves handed a debut to the 21-year-old.

Swinton-born Clements, who had come through the same youth system as Sam Allardyce and Neil Whatmore, signed his first professional contract upon turning 18. But unlike his peers, Clements' appearance in the Lancashire derby that August was to be as good as it got for the youngster as he made just the single appearance for the Whites. In this issue we take a look at ten other players who made just the one solitary outing in Bolton colours. See how many you can remember...

DAVID HOLDSWORTH - 2002

Twin brother of Dean Holdsworth and former captain of Watford, Sheffield United and Birmingham City, centre-half David Holdsworth arrived at the Reebok on a short-term contract in August 2002. He was handed his Wanderers debut in their ill-fated League Cup defeat at home to neighbours Bury but, despite earning praise from manager Sam Allardyce, the defender wasn't given a long-term deal and moved on to Scarborough the following month.

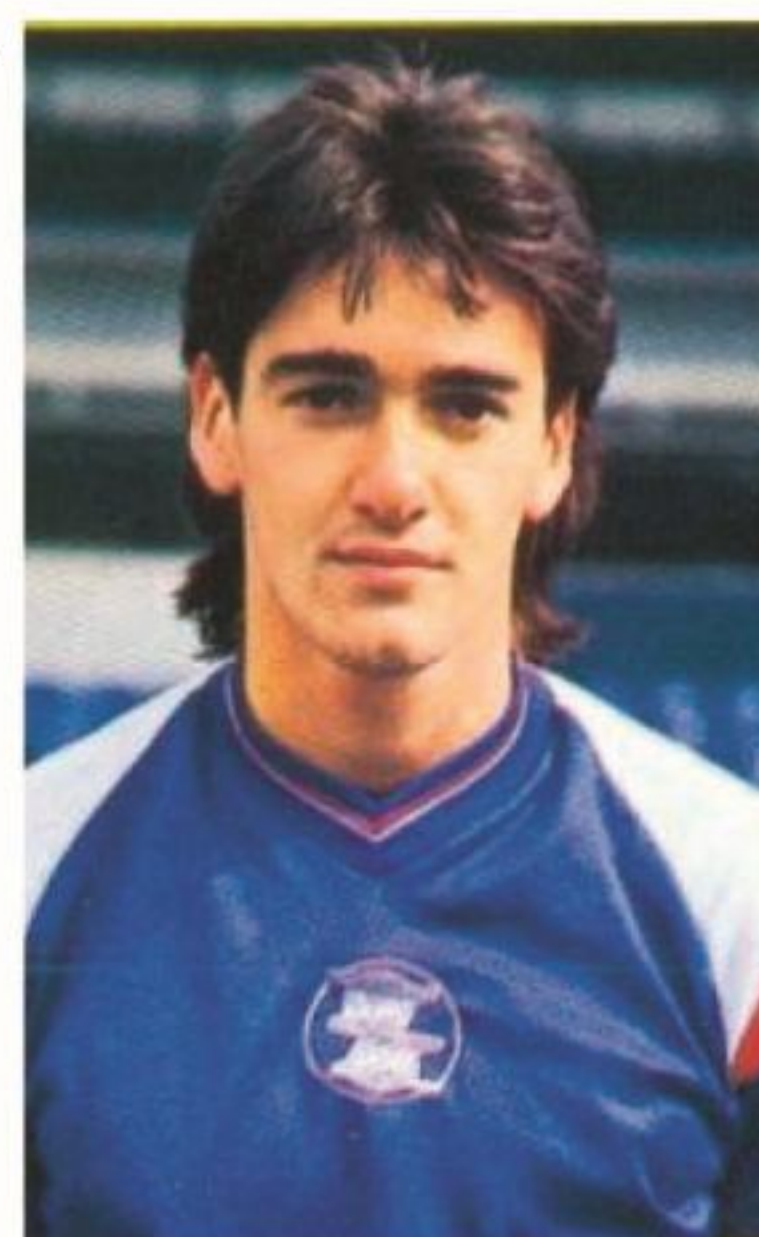

BLERIM DZEMAILI - 2008

Wanderers signed Swiss international Blerim Dzemaili from FC Zurich on a pre-contract agreement ahead of the 2006/07 season. The midfielder would however suffer knee ligament damage in one of his last games for his former employers, and thus spent most of his Bolton career in the physio room. His only appearance for Bolton, prior to his move to Serie A side Torino, was as a second-half substitute for Nicky Hunt in an FA Cup defeat to Sheffield United in January 2008.

ANDY KENNEDY - 1991

The much travelled striker signed on a short-term loan deal from Watford by manager Phil Neal in October 1991, to provide competition for Tony Philliskirk and David Reeves. Andy Kennedy made his debut soon after joining the club in the Trotters' 1-0 win over Chester City at Moss Rose, but suffered a back injury in that game which forced him to return to his parent club in order to receive treatment, ending his stint in the North West.

ANDY OAKES - 2004

Andy Oakes came through Burnley's ranks as a trainee and was signed by Sam Allardyce on a three-month loan deal from Derby County to provide goalkeeping cover for Jussi Jaaskelainen. He took turns with Kevin Poole on the substitutes' bench and when the Finn keeper was dismissed late on in a game at Middlesbrough in November 2004, Allardyce handed the gloves to his loanee for their next game at home to Aston Villa, as Oakes made his one and only appearance for the Trotters.

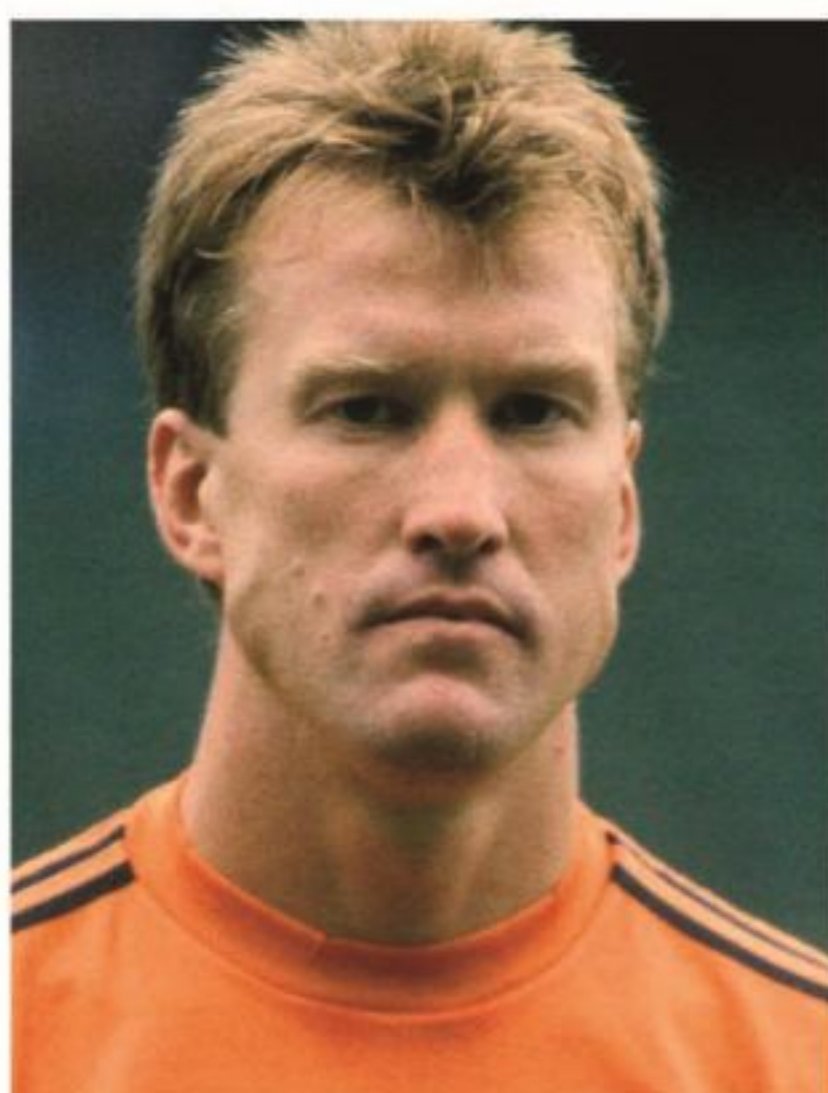

CESAR - 2007

A centre-half with over 200 La Liga games to his name, as well as twelve caps for Spain, Cesar was signed by Sam Allardyce on a free transfer in February 2007. He was brought in to provide competition for Abdoulaye Meite, Abdoulaye Faye and Tal Ben-Haim, but the Spaniard only saw one minute of first team action as a substitute for Nicolas Anelka in Allardyce's last game as Wanderers manager at Chelsea.

GERRY PEYTON - 1992

Current Arsenal goalkeeping coach Gerry Peyton represented the Republic of Ireland at international level, today's visitors Burnley, as well as Fulham, Bournemouth and Everton. Having lost the services of on-loan stopper Andy Dibble, Wanderers manager Phil Neal needed another loanee as cover for Dave Felgate. In February 1992, Felgate was unavailable for a home game against Exeter City so Peyton stepped in for one game before returning to Goodison Park.

JON OTSEMOBOR - 2004

Having impressed against Wanderers in a League Cup tie for parent club Liverpool, Sam Allardyce decided to recruit the right-sided full back on loan in January 2004. His only appearance at the Reebok saw him come up against another product of Liverpool's academy, Steve McManaman, as visiting Manchester City ran out 3-1 winners. The defender had his agreement terminated soon after, but he has since turned out for a number of teams in the Football League.

NATHAN WOOLFE - 2008

Left-sided midfielder Nathan Woolfe came through the Bolton ranks and was named as a substitute against Sporting Lisbon at the Estadio Jose Alvalade Stadium in March 2008. Wanderers were narrowly defeated on the night by a single goal and bowed out of the UEFA Cup, but the young Mancunian was a 75th-minute substitute in Portugal, replacing striker Heidar Helguson. At the start of the following season he was loaned to Wrexham before making a permanent move to Hednesford Town.

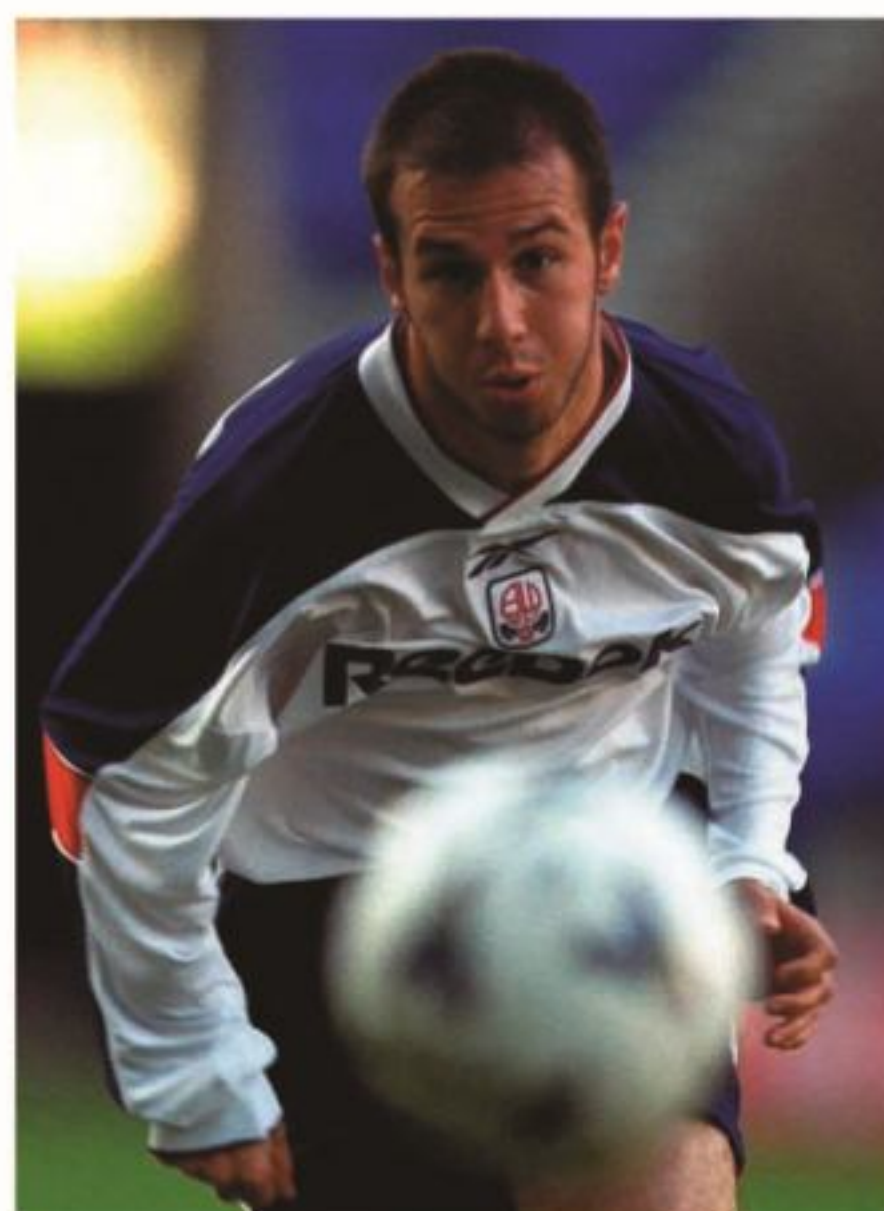

NEIL MATTHEWS - 1987

Neil Matthews signed from Grimsby Town in March 1987, and Wanderers threw their new forward straight into the action when he replaced top goalscorer Tony Caldwell away at Notts County. But this would be his only appearance for the Whites before he returned to his native Cleethorpes at the end of his temporary spell at Burnden Park. He would later return to the North West representing the likes of Stockport County, Bury and Leigh RMI.

MICKAEL KAPRIELIAN - 2000

Mickael Kaprielian became Wanderers' first signing of the new millennium as Sam Allardyce paid French club Martigues a nominal fee for the striker in January 2000.

Two months later he came off the bench to make his debut as a late substitute alongside fellow youngster Kevin Nolan in a 2-0 home defeat to league leaders Charlton Athletic. The following season he returned to France after cancelling his contract and has since played amateur football in his home country.

Name: Claus Jensen
Date of birth: 29 April 29, 1977
Place of birth: Nykobing Falster, Denmark.
Position: Midfielder
Time at BWFC: 1998-2000
BWFC appearances: 113
BWFC goals: 10
Magic moment: Securing a hard-fought win with the only goal of the game against Queens Park Rangers as the Whites battled for promotion in the 1999/2000 season.
Fact: Jensen's cousin, Anders Due, plays as a winger for Danish side Aalborg BK.

CLAUS' CAREER:

Claus Jensen enjoyed a successful career at both club and international level.

The Dane joined the Trotters in the summer of 1998 and Jensen adapted quickly to his new surroundings. The midfielder impressed during his debut season with the club and earned a call-up to the senior Danish national side before making his full international debut in 2000.

After scoring ten goals in 113 appearances for the Trotters, Premier League side Charlton Athletic signed the midfielder for £4 million, bringing his two-year stay at the Reebok to an end.

Jensen remained a regular in Denmark's starting line-up, and he represented his country in both the 2002 World Cup and

CLAUS JENSEN

2004 European Championships.

Jensen enjoyed a productive spell with the Addicks spanning four campaigns, before moving on to pastures new – this time with fellow London club Fulham in 2004.

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

He was a majestic playmaker on the field. Now after hanging up his boots, the former Danish international has continued to put his vast football knowledge to good use.

After ending his career in England with Fulham, Jensen moved back to Denmark to begin a new venture into the world of broadcast journalism.

Today, the 35-year-old is currently a commentator and pundit for Danish television mchannel 6'eren.

The former midfielder covers the channel's Premier League coverage, sharing his views on the best league in the world. Jensen is also a regular on the channel's daily punditry show where they discuss all the latest news from England's top flight.

ROBBIE ELLIOTT

ROBBIE'S RUN IN FOOTBALL:

After working his way up through the ranks as a youngster at Newcastle United, the 39-year-old earned exactly 100 appearances in all competitions for the Magpies.

He scored nine goals during his time at St James' Park and that persuaded Colin Todd to pay a club record fee of £2.5 million to sign the defender in July 1997.

But Elliott's first start at the Reebok was to end in tragedy. Half-an-hour into his home debut, he landed awkwardly following a challenge with Everton full-back Tony Thomas and suffered a double fracture in his leg that ruled him out for over a season.

He returned to the side in 1998 and he would quickly re-establish himself as a regular fixture in the first team and was part of the side that lost out to Watford in the 1999 play-off final.

After years of chasing promotion to the Premier League, Elliott finally managed the feat in May 2001 when the Whites triumphed over Preston North End in the play-off final in Cardiff.

Name: Robbie Elliott
Date of birth: 25 December, 1973
Place of birth: Newcastle
Position: Defender
Time at BWFC: 1997-2001
BWFC appearances: 108
BWFC goals: 7
BWFC magic moment: Knocking Sheffield Wednesday out of the League Cup with the only goal of the game in their fourth round tie in the 1999/2000 season.
Fact: Elliott returned to Newcastle for a third spell at the club in 2008 when he became the club's assistant fitness and conditioning coach.

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

He may not be attracting quite the same attention as some of English football's most famous ambassador in America, but Robbie Elliott is playing an important role in the future of the game in the United States.

Today, Elliot is now directly involved in the development of the next generation of US internationals as he is the conditioning and performance coach to their under-17 and under-20 squads.

Fired by the interest in fitness coaching, Elliot was to take advantage of a return to Newcastle to enrol at Northumbria University for a degree in Sports Science.

After brief spells with Sunderland, Leeds and Hartlepool, the 39-year-old made a third return to his home town club as he joined the Magpies' staff as a conditioning coach. But within a year he was pursuing contacts in the States, and racking up the airmiles as he joined the US Soccer's coaching staff.

With Wanderers rooted to the bottom of Division One and on a run of 21 league games without a win, the hugely popular manager of the time, Ian Greaves, was relieved of his duties.

In the week leading up to the Leeds fixture, assistant manager Stan Anderson was handed the job on a permanent basis. But with Bolton 12 points adrift of safety, beating the drop was looking like a tall order as the Whites would have had to have won the majority of their remaining fixtures. The first aim for Anderson and his players was to end a club record run of 11 consecutive away defeats.

The game at Elland Road began in explosive fashion and with less than a minute on the clock, a Roy Greaves pass sent Neil Whatmore racing through. The leading scorer made no mistake and his finish gave the Trotters an early lead against their West Yorkshire counterparts.

ROY GREAVES

It didn't take long for Leeds to level, however, and the game was turned on its head when Jimmy Adamson's side took the lead early in the second half. But Wanderers weren't finished and a Roy Greaves header levelled the scores and secured a precious point for the Trotters, as well as giving the players and supporters a much needed boost of confidence.

This was to be Greaves' last league game for his hometown club, as a month later he moved across the Atlantic to start a three-year stint with Seattle Sounders. By the time Greaves had departed for America, he had made 575 appearances for the Whites. That total left him second in the list of all-time appearances for the club, just three games short of equalling Eddie Hopkinson's record.

During that time, Greaves had witnessed first-hand the rise and fall of the club since making his debut against Leyton Orient in 1965 when the club was in the old Second Division. He initially played as an inside forward and became a regular source of goals, topping the club's scoring charts in 1967/68 and 1968/69. He was later converted into a midfielder where he played a vital part in leading the club back to the top flight.

Greaves was skipper of the Second Division title-winning side of 1977/78, justifying the Farnworth-born lad's decision to stay at Burnden Park rather than accept a number of offers which came his way from a host of top clubs.

A true professional in every sense of the word, he had an amazing ability to read the game and situations. His loyalty and achievements were summed up when the great Nat Lofthouse once described Greaves as 'Bolton Wanderers from the top of his head to the tip of his toes'. High praise indeed.

Wanderers 1 - 2 Everton

Wanderers' under-18 side were narrowly beaten at home to Everton in the Barclays Under-18 Premier League Elite Group.

Liam Gibson's first-half strike ensured that the two sides entered the break on level terms, but a late Toffee's goal snatched victory for the visitors at Lostock on Saturday.

David Lee and Tony Kelly's side started brightly, creating a number of chances in the first period as Elliot Newby almost secured an early breakthrough for the Baby Whites, but his effort went narrowly wide.

But Gibson (below) would soon get Wanderers' opening goal, as the defender's ball into the penalty area eluded everyone to creep inside the far post, before the Toffees found a goal of their own to level the scores before the interval.

In an even second half, Dylan Wolstenholme (above) went within the width of a goalpost from giving Wanderers the lead, but the midfielder's strike from the edge of the box struck Everton's upright.

However, the Toffees would steal a late winner, but head coach Lee was pleased with his side's performance and he has expressed his delight after a number of academy players continued their progression into Jamie Fullarton's development squad.

Wanderers: Sievers, Hendrie, Gibson (Hinchcliffe 65), Holding, Nolan, Wolstenholme, Youngs, Bailey, Newby Hamer

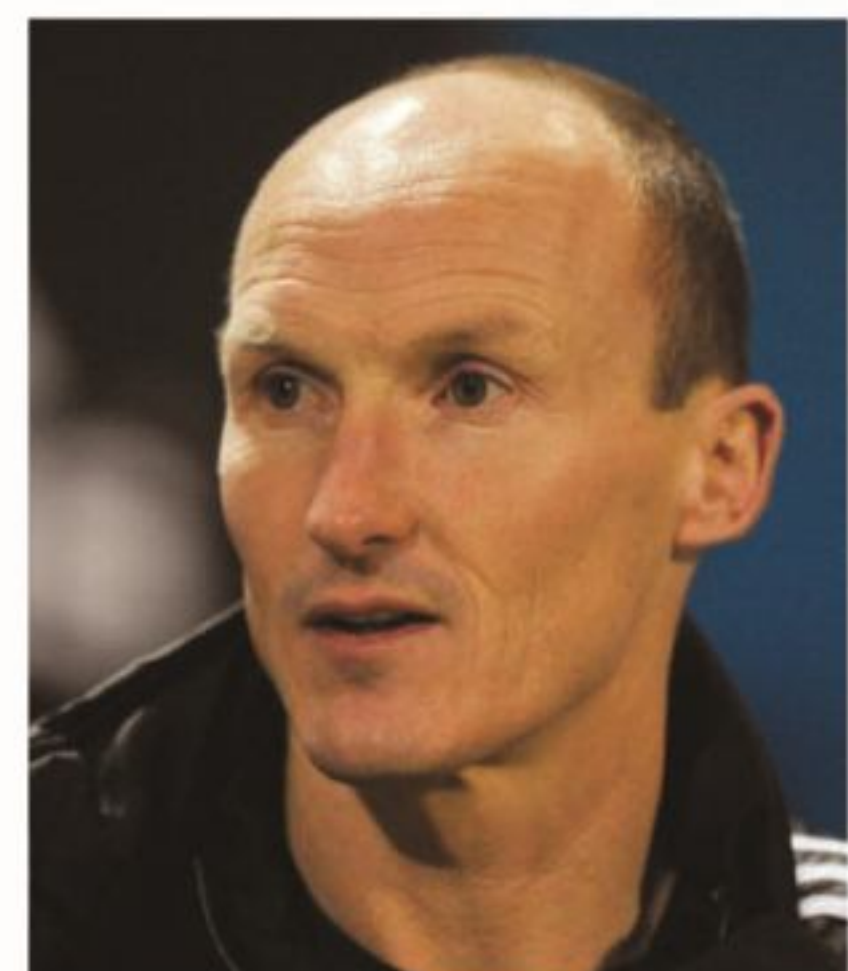

LEE: PLAYERS MAKING PROGRESS

"The performances of the players was very pleasing. Many of them were starting the game either for the first time this season or for others after three weeks due to the adverse weather conditions.

"Overall, the players conducted very well against an experienced team.

"On the bigger picture, the nucleuses of the squad have moved up to the development squad, and that's what the production of players is all about.

"It was pleasing to see Zach Clough, Chris Lester and Niall Maher all start for the development squad in their recent game against Manchester City, and I hope that this progression can continue for other members of the squad."

CHRIS LESTER

SALFORD-BORN WINGER READY TO TAKE THE NEXT STEP

WORDS: EMMA NORRIS

Following his appearance on the bench in last month's FA Cup third round clash with Sunderland, Wanderers scholar Chris Lester is confident that he will be making his bow for the club sooner rather than later.

An integral figure for the Whites' development squad this season, the 18-year-old said that his recent experiences have encouraged him to push on and make the final step-up into the first team.

"Being on the bench was just amazing," he admitted. "I got told I was in the squad on the Friday before and when I arrived for the game the manager said I was going to be a substitute – I was over the moon.

"The whole day was just brilliant. Warming up with the team and having the fans around you just makes you want to play week in week out.

"With it being my first experience of a matchday I didn't really know what to expect, but it was fantastic just to be involved."

Born and raised in nearby Salford, the winger began his playing career with Radcliffe Borough as a six-year-old before joining Bury Town at the age of 12.

This move proved to be a crucial one as he was scouted by Bolton just a year later. And Lester revealed there were times when he wondered if his moment would ever come.

"I did wonder whether I would get picked up," he said. "In comparison to the other lads I joined pretty late as most of the players here have been at the club since they were very young. But I just focused on playing as much as I could and luckily it eventually happened for me."

After being taken on by Wanderers, Lester continued to impress and the youngster went on to secure his scholarship three years later.

Having enjoyed a rapid rise through the ranks, he paid tribute to the club's staff who he believes have been crucial in making him the player he is today.

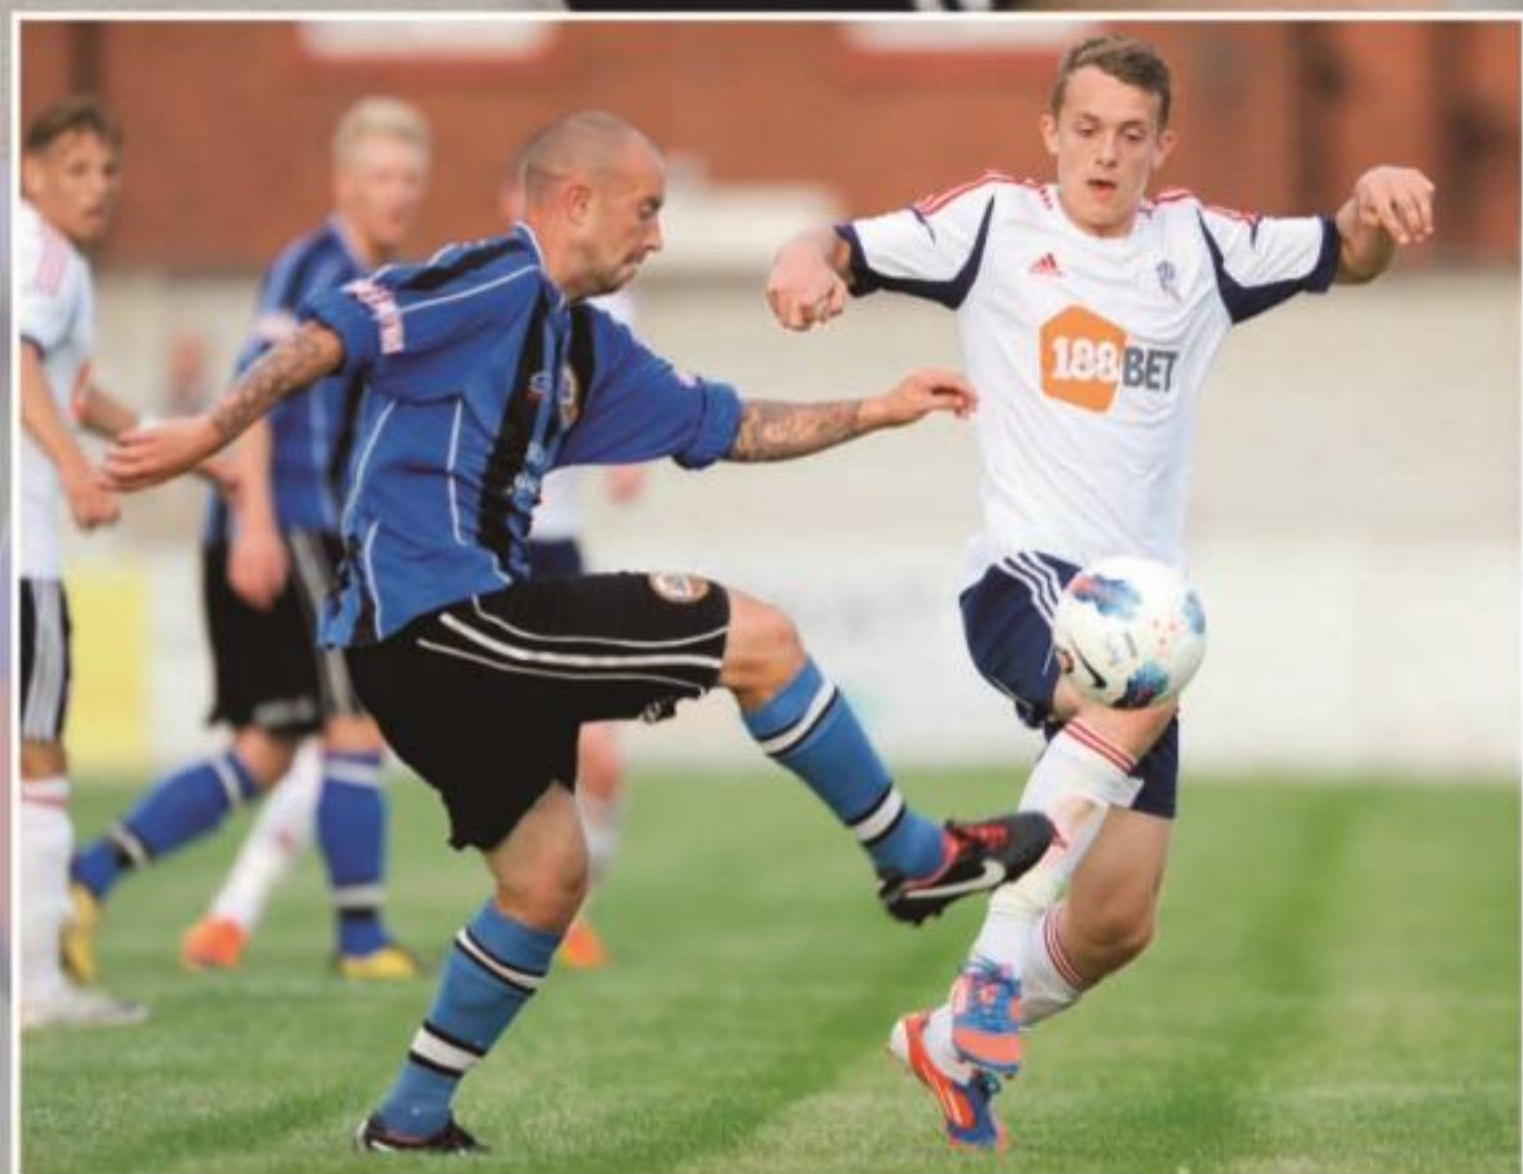

"Everyone has been great, but especially David Lee. Having been a winger himself he's given me a lot of individual help," he added.

"The medical care is brilliant too. Even if you just have a little niggle, they look after you really well so you're fresh for training and feeling at your best."

Having come so close to making his debut, Lester explained that Dougie Freedman's keen interest in the academy has given himself and his fellow scholars every hope of breaking into the first team set-up on a permanent basis in the near future.

"I think the manager has got a really good mentality with us," he said. "A few of us are getting our chances, even if it's just to go and train with the squad, but it's all good experience.

"I've just got to keep working hard. Hopefully if I do well enough I'll make the bench a few more times and eventually get some minutes on the pitch."

MAN CITY WANDERERS

Jan Gregus' late spectacular 30-yard strike secured a well-deserved draw against Manchester City in what was a breathtaking tie at Ewen Fields.

An opener from Jack Sampson, followed by an own goal from Dedryck Boyata and Gregus' strike cancelled out Jose Pozo Angel La Rosa's brace and John Guidetti's header.

David Wheeler and Stuart Holden managed 65 and 31 minutes respectively, with Holden substituted following a tackle with George Evans.

Wanderers broke the deadlock courtesy of Sampson. Sanmi Odelusi charged towards the City backline before playing the ball across to the forward who shifted the ball inside before firing a solid 20-yard strike beyond the outstretched hand of City stopper Ian Lawlor and into the corner of the net.

Unfortunately for the Whites, the home side reacted well and leveled terms in the 26th minute. Denis Suarez laid the ball across the edge of the area to Jose Angel Pozo who immediately struck a shot that took a major deflection, rolling past the helpless Rob Lainton and into the corner of the net.

After an encouraging first half-hour for Stuart Holden, his involvement in the game was abruptly ended after a challenge with Evans. The tackle left the American requiring treatment before he was substituted as a precaution for Oscar Threlkeld. Holden was still able to walk around the perimeter of the pitch before being taken off.

City took the lead for the first time in the match when Jose Angel Pozo came back to haunt the Wanderers again. A Suarez corner was only cleared as far as the little Spaniard who quickly controlled the ball before firing it into the bottom corner from 20 yards.

This didn't dampen the Whites' spirit as they immediately hit back and forced an equaliser through a defensive error. Alex McQuade drilled a dangerous cross towards the six-yard box that Boyata failed to deal with as he sliced his attempted clearance into his own net to tie the scores at half-time.

The start of the second half didn't quite maintain the same intensity from the end of the first 45 minutes, although a third City goal by Guidetti just before the hour mark was the catalyst for a flurry of action.

An inviting cross from Greg Leigh was met by the towering Guidetti who nodded the ball in at the near post, re-establishing City's lead at 3-2.

But as the game neared a close, Gregus conjured up a moment of magic to claim a point for Wanderers. The Slovakian Under-21 international received the ball from 30 yards and immediately struck an unstoppable effort that soared towards goal, dipping underneath the crossbar and crashing into the top corner of the net.

OPPOSITION SUMMARY

Despite a managerial change this season, the Clarets have maintained hopes of claiming a play-off place after enjoying a change of fortunes under new boss Sean Dyche.

The Clarets experienced a difficult start to the current campaign under Eddie Howe, suffering back-to-back defeats in August against Middlesbrough and Huddersfield Town. But their form began to turn in the following months as the Lancashire-based outfit claimed four victories in September and October moving the club away from the drop zone.

With the Clarets in the bottom half of the table, Howe left Turf Moor in October to begin his second stint in charge at Bournemouth. The club turned to former Watford manager Dyche and the new boss made a dream start as his side secured consecutive home victories over Wolves and Leeds United.

The Clarets' form continued to improve, inspired by the inspirational Charlie Austin, as Burnley moved within touching distance of the play-off places at the turn of the year.

VISITING VIEW

Chris Boden, chief football writer of the Burnley Express, believes the Clarets are in a very good place under Sean Dyche after an impressive run of results in January.

He said: "Burnley's season has been defined by the change of management in October. When Sean Dyche took the helm, he inherited the top-scoring side in the Championship, but also one of the worse defences in the division. Now the new manager has been able to give the side some much-needed balance.

"Since his arrival, the Clarets climbed up to seventh in the Championship and were only five points off the play-off places at the end of January. The new boss has been able to improve Burnley's defensive frailties.

"They are proving hard to beat at present while retaining an attacking threat courtesy of talisman Charlie Austin.

"I expect it will be tough for any of the clubs outside the top six to break in, such is the form, spending power and quality of Cardiff, Leicester, Palace, Hull, Middlesbrough and Watford. The Championship remains impossible to predict from one week to the next, but I'd back Burnley to pick up a point and I would predict a 1-1 draw."

George Beel (1923–1932)

Nationality: English

Date of Birth: 26/02/1900

Bracebridge Heath-born striker George Beel enjoyed a highly successful nine-year spell with the Lancashire-based club and he will be remembered as one of Burnley's greatest ever players. Beel had a brief spell with local club Lincoln City before playing for Merthyr Town and Chesterfield, but it was his performances with the Spireites that prompted Burnley to secure his signature. The striker represented the Clarets between 1923 and 1932 before re-joining Lincoln, leaving Burnley with a phenomenal record of 187 goals in 337 appearances for the club.

JERRY DAWSON (1907–1928)

The Burnley-born custodian was the club's first choice keeper in the 1920/21 title winning season and earned him his first England cap in the same year. Dawson ended his Burnley career as a 40-year-old in 1927 when he made his 569th appearance for the Clarets, a record that still stands today.

JIMMY McILROY (1950–1962)

Nationality: Northern Ireland

Date of Birth: 25/10/1931

After starting his career with Glentoran in his native Northern Ireland, midfielder Jimmy McIlroy made the switch to England in 1950 when he joined the Clarets and he went on to enjoy 12 prosperous seasons with the Lancashire-based club. McIlroy's impressive displays during his time at Burnley earned him over 50 caps for Northern Ireland, and he represented his country at the 1958 World Cup. He was a part of the side that won the First Division title in 1960 and his achievements were acknowledged by the club in 1996 as they named a stand in his honour following the redevelopment of Turf Moor.

Nationality: English Date of Birth: 31/01/1984 Position: Midfielder

Experienced midfielder Dean Marney is now in his third season with the Clarets after joining from Hull City in 2010. The former England Under-21 international is a product of Tottenham Hotspur's youth academy, but he failed to hold down a regular starting place at White Hart Lane and moved to the KC Stadium in 2006. The 29-year-old also enjoyed loan spells with Swindon Town, Queens Park Rangers, Gillingham and Norwich City.

JUNIOR STANISLAS

Nationality: English Date of Birth: 26/11/1989 Position: Midfielder

Former West Ham United midfielder Junior Stanislas made the move to Turf Moor from Upton Park on deadline day of the 2011 summer transfer window. The Kidbrooke-born midfielder, who enjoyed a three-month loan spell with Southend United in 2008, has been a regular in Burnley's starting line-up this season, chalking up 22 league appearances.

BRIAN STOCK

Nationality: Welsh Date of Birth: 24/12/1981 Position: Midfielder

Brian Stock became Eddie Howe's sixth signing of the summer when he joined from Doncaster Rovers on a two-year deal in August 2012. The midfielder, who has represented Wales at international level, began his career at Bournemouth where he made 172 appearances. He signed for Preston North End in 2006, but limited first team opportunities resulted in him moving to the Keepmoat a year later.

MARTIN PATERSON

Nationality: Northern Irish Date of Birth: 10/05/1987 Position: Striker

Tunstall-born striker Martin Paterson has become a favourite with the Turf Moor faithful since joining the Clarets from Scunthorpe United in 2008. Despite being born in Lancashire, Paterson, who scored 13 goals in his debut season at the club, has represented Northern Ireland at international level making 14 appearances, scoring one goal.

DANNY INGS

Nationality: English Date of Birth: 23/07/1992 Position: Striker

Danny Ings is now in his second season with Burnley after joining from Bournemouth in August 2011. The 20-year-old made his debut for the Clarets in February 2012, but his time in Lancashire has been plagued with injury after the striker suffered serious knee injuries in August 2011 and July 2012. The forward has still managed to feature over 30 times for the club in the last 12-months, scoring five goals.

SAM VOKES

Nationality: Welsh Date of Birth: 21/10/1989 Position: Striker

Welsh international Sam Vokes joined the Clarets in July 2012 after former club Wolves were relegated from the Premier League. Vokes, who has earned 24 caps for his country, scored his first goal for Burnley in their 2-1 defeat to Ipswich Town in November and has since been on target against Blackburn and Millwall.

TEN YEAR HISTORY

2002/03 — Despite an average league campaign, Stan Ternent's side enjoyed impressive runs in the cups as they defeated Tottenham in the League Cup and they also reached the quarter finals of the FA Cup.

League Position: 16th (Championship)

2003/04 — A total of 19 league goals from top scorer Robbie Blake helped Burnley narrowly avoid relegation as they ended the season only two points above the drop zone.

League Position: 19th (Championship)

2004/05 — In his first full season in charge, Steve Cotterill guided Burnley to a 13th place finish and also secured a famous 1-0 win over Liverpool in the FA Cup third round.

League Position: 13th (Championship)

2005/06 — Burnley ended the season with only 11 wins from their 46 league matches and were also dumped out of the FA Cup at the first hurdle in a largely disappointing campaign.

League Position: 17th (Championship)

2006/07 — Top scorer Andy Gray netted 14 goals to help the Clarets to a mid-table finish in Steve Cotterill's third season in charge of the club.

League Position: 15th (Championship)

2007/08 — Three months into his fourth full season in charge, Steve Cotterill was sacked and replaced by Owen Coyle who led the Clarets to another mid-table Championship finish.

League Position: 13th (Championship)

2008/09 — It was a truly memorable season for Burnley as Owen Coyle's side reached the semi-finals of the League Cup as well as winning promotion to the Premier League via the play-offs.

League Position: 5th (Championship)

2009/10 — Back in the top flight for the first time in 33 years, Burnley claimed some significant scalps. Both Manchester United and Everton fell to defeats at Turf Moor, but the club finished in the bottom three after losing 24 of their 38 league games.

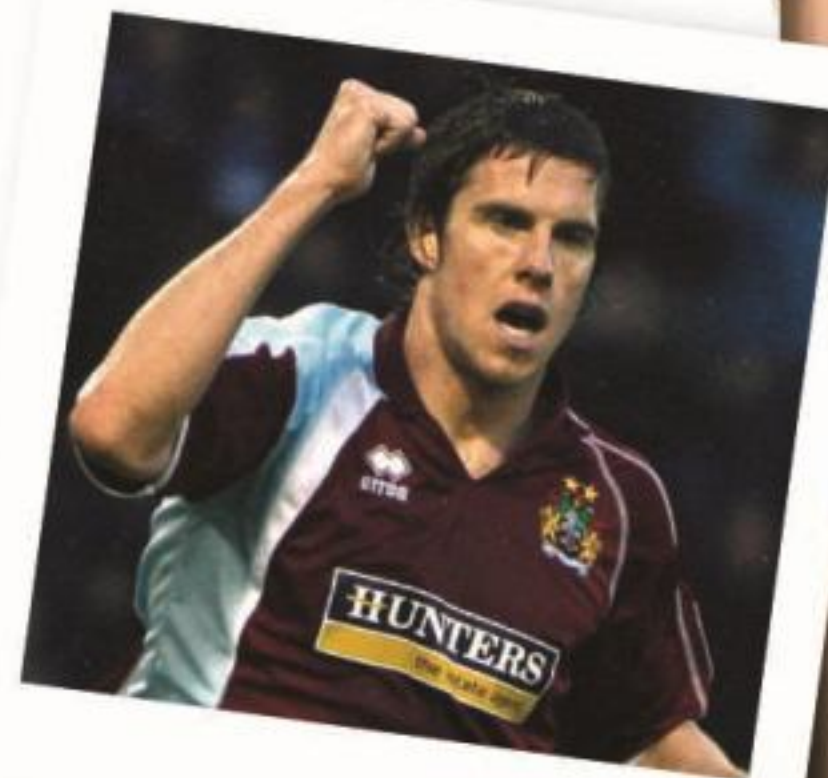

League Position: 18th (Premier League)

2010/11 — A disappointing start to their first season back in the Championship saw Brian Laws sacked and replaced by Eddie Howe and the Clarets finished the season just outside the play-off places.

League Position: 8th (Championship)

2011/12 — Eddie Howe guided the Clarets to a 13th place finish, with the highlights of the season being the 5-1 wins over Nottingham Forest and Portsmouth.

CLUB HEROES

George Beel (1923–1932)

Nationality: English

Date of Birth: 26/02/1900

Position: Striker

Bracebridge Heath-born striker George Beel enjoyed a highly successful nine-year spell with the Lancashire-based club and he will be remembered as one of Burnley's greatest ever players. Beel had a brief spell with local club Lincoln City before playing for Merthyr Town and Chesterfield, but it was his performances with the Spireites that prompted Burnley to secure his signature. The striker represented the Clarets between 1923 and 1932 before re-joining Lincoln, leaving Burnley with a phenomenal record of 187 goals in 337 appearances for the club.

JERRY DAWSON (1907–1928)

Nationality: English

Date of Birth: 18/03/1888

Position: Goalkeeper

Former England international stopper Jerry Dawson is considered one of Burnley's greatest ever keepers after representing the club for over two decades at the start of the 20th century. Dawson was part of the famous Clarets side that won the FA Cup in 1914 for the first and only time in their history. The Burnley-born custodian was the club's first choice keeper in the 1920/21 title winning season and earned him his first England cap in the same year. Dawson ended his Burnley career as a 40-year-old in 1927 when he made his 569th appearance for the Clarets, a record that still stands today.

JIMMY McILROY (1950–1962)

Nationality: Northern Ireland

Date of Birth: 25/10/1931

Position: Midfielder

After starting his career with Glentoran in his native Northern Ireland, midfielder Jimmy McIlroy made the switch to England in 1950 when he joined the Clarets and he went on to enjoy 12 prosperous seasons with the Lancashire-based club. McIlroy's impressive displays during his time at Burnley earned him over 50 caps for Northern Ireland, and he represented his country at the 1958 World Cup. He was a part of the side that won the First Division title in 1960 and his achievements were acknowledged by the club in 1996 as they named a stand in his honour following the redevelopment of Turf Moor.

THE LAST MEETING

Date: 18/08/2012 Result: Burnley 2-0 Wanderers Venue: Turf Moor

Wanderers suffered defeat when the two sides last met on the opening day of the current campaign. Martin Paterson opened the scoring for the Clarets five minutes before the break with a close-range header before Charlie Austin doubled the home side's advantage just shy of the hour mark.

P

THE GROUNDS

PRIDE PARK

In 1997 Derby County waved goodbye to their Baseball Ground home and relocated to the new, purpose-built 33,500-seater stadium. Wanderers have only played there on four occasions and are yet to win a league encounter at the Rams' new home. They did secure a league cup win in 1999, when a late winner from Michael Johansen secured victory. Wanderers' last trip was in 2007, when Nicolas Anelka's equaliser cancelled out an early Kenny Miller strike in a 1-1 draw.

PORTMAN ROAD

Ipswich Town's 30,000-seater stadium was built in 1884 and pays tribute to two well-known former managers of the club, with both Sir Alf Ramsey and Sir Bobby Robson having stands named after them. Wanderers have emerged victorious on their two most recent visits to the Suffolk-based ground, earning a 2-1 win in a Premier League clash in 2001 and, most recently, a 3-1 success in a 2005 FA Cup tie with Stelios Giannakopoulos on target and Henrik Pedersen netting a brace.

PRIESTFIELD

Wanderers made a handful of trips to Gillingham's home during the 1980s, when both the Gills and the Whites were playing in the third tier of English football. The ground, which has a capacity of 11,500 and known as MEMS Priestfield Stadium for sponsorship reasons, was also the venue for a 2-2 draw between the sides during the 2000/01 campaign.

P IS ALSO FOR...

PLAY-OFFS

The play-offs were introduced by the Football League in 1987 and Wanderers most notably used the system to their advantage in 1995, when Bruce Rioch guided the Whites to a 4-3 win over Reading at Wembley, one of the team's most memorable ever victories.

PROMOTION

The victory over the Royals in 1995 earned Wanderers a return to the top flight for the first time since the 1979/80 season. The Whites were unable to retain their Premiership status and were relegated after one season, but bounced back in 1996/97 when Colin Todd's side romped to another promotion, posting 98 points and breaking the 100-goal mark.

THE PLAYERS

TONY PHILLISKIRK

The Sunderland-born striker spent three-and-a-half years at Burnden Park, arriving in the summer of 1989. He began his career as a trainee at Sheffield United and moved on to Oldham and Preston before being convinced by Phil Neal to join the Whites. He made 182 appearances for Wanderers and scored 76 goals in all competitions.

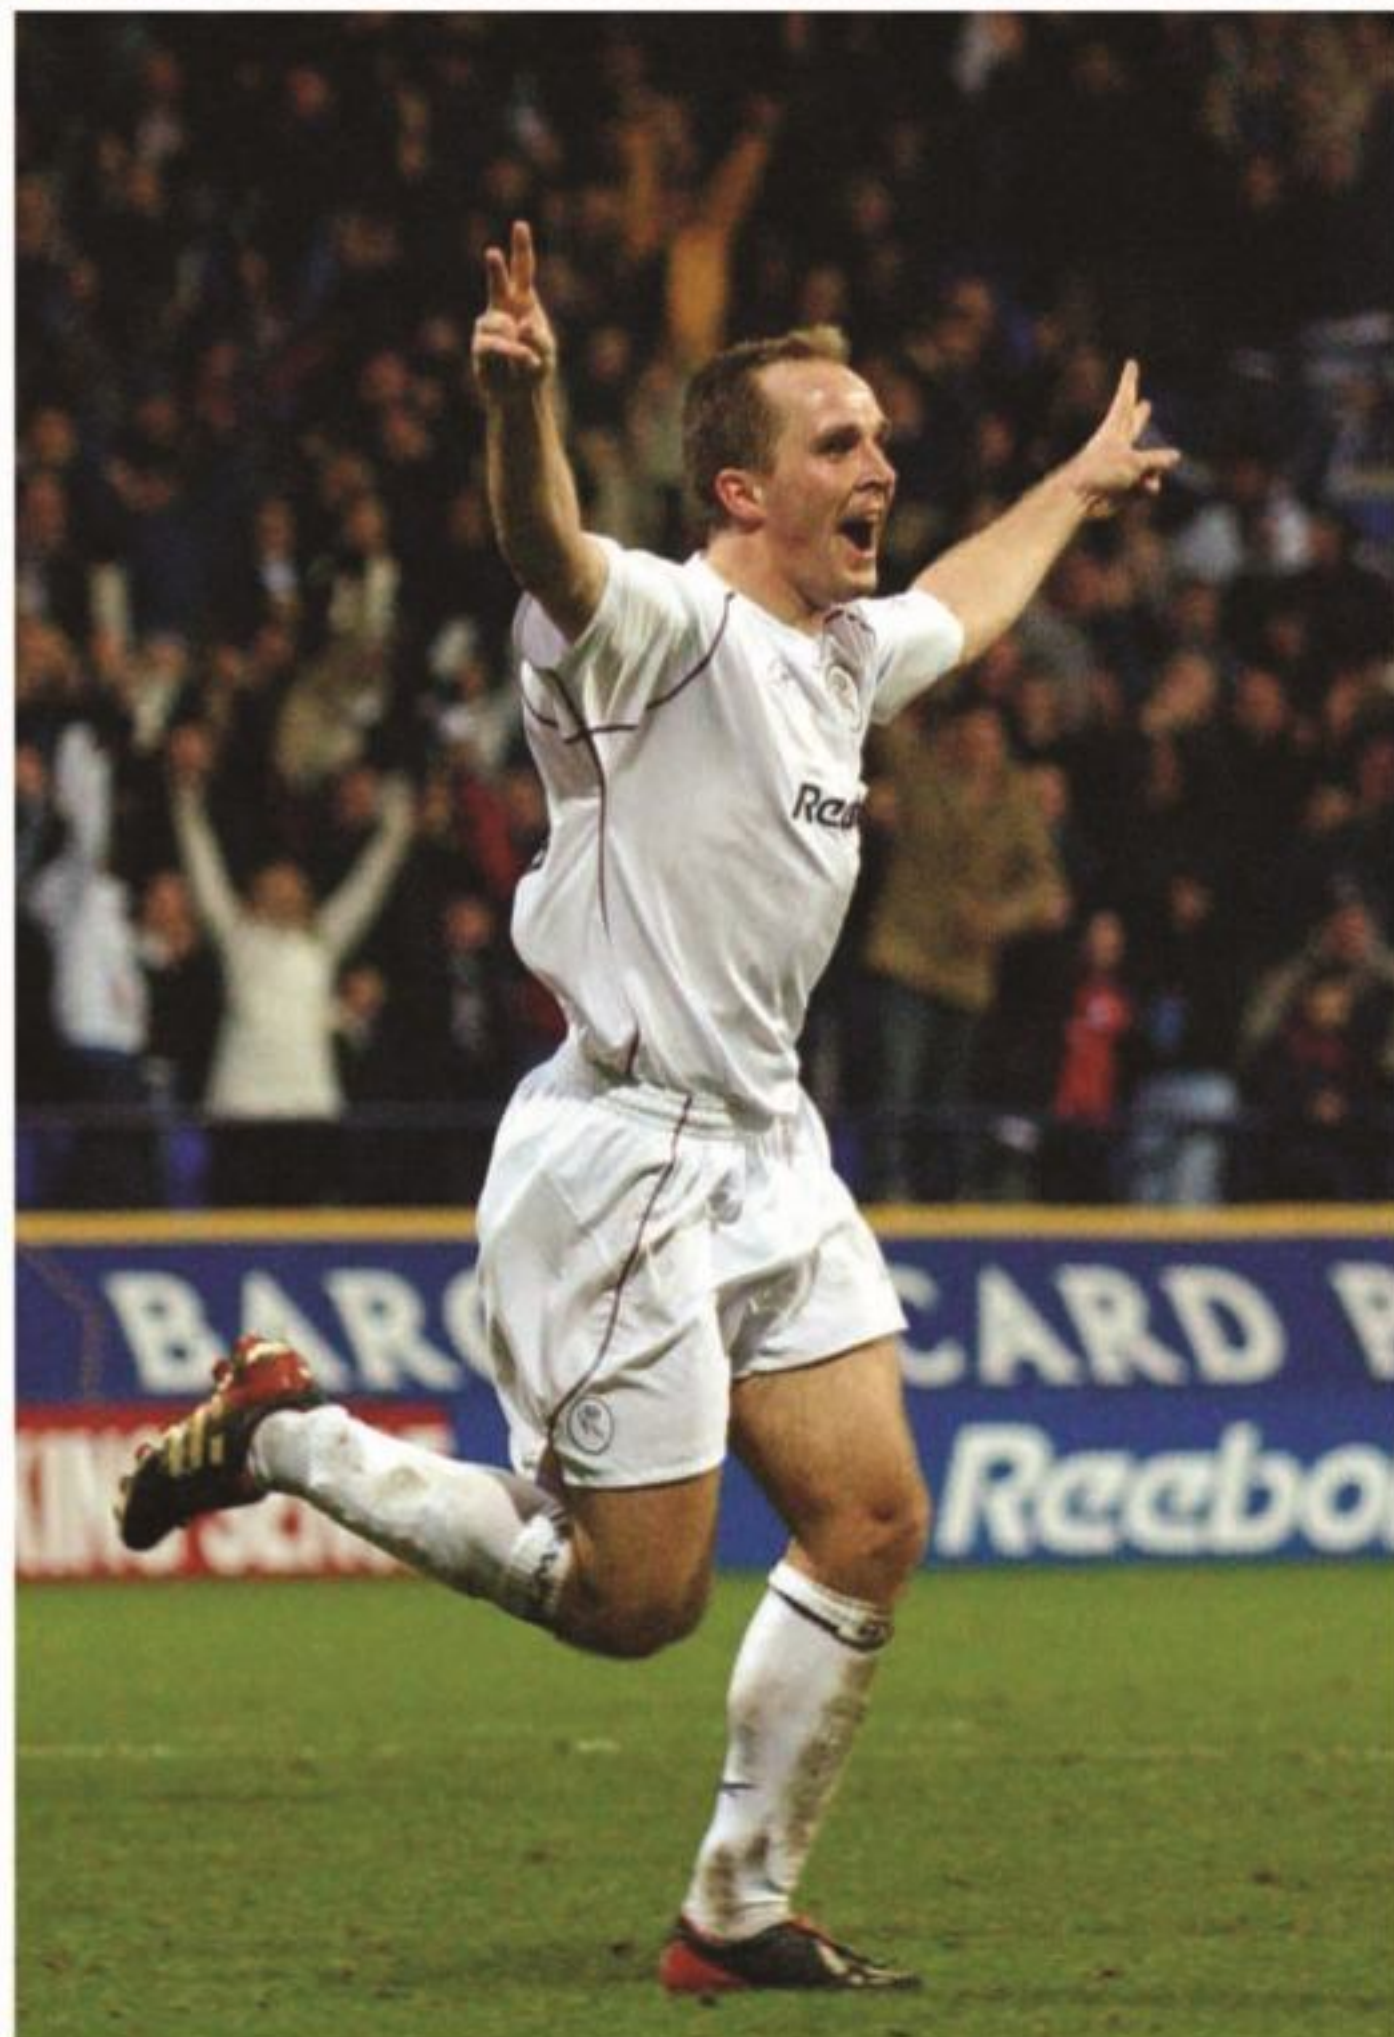

JIMMY PHILLIPS

Many players are labelled 'legend' in today's game, but Jimmy Phillips is someone who genuinely fits that description. In two separate spells as a Wanderer, the left-sided full back made more than 400 appearances. He came through the ranks in 1983 and after spells at Glasgow Rangers, Oxford United and Middlesbrough, he returned to Burnden Park in 1993 where he spent the remaining eight years of his career.

HENRIK PEDERSEN

The Denmark international arrived in July 2001 ahead of Wanderers' return to the Premiership. He made his Whites debut during the emphatic 5-0 win at Leicester on the opening day of the 2001/02 campaign. The forward hit a total of 29 Bolton goals, perhaps most memorably against Arsenal in the 2003/04 season, when he volleyed a late equaliser in a 1-1 draw at the Reebok.

PENALTY SAVE

Wanderers were winning 1-0 away at rivals Blackburn in a 2006/07 Premier League clash when Jussi Jaaskelainen completed the remarkable feat of saving two penalties in as many minutes. The Finn first denied Benni McCarthy and then kept out Jason Roberts' effort from 12 yards to preserve a clean sheet and all three points.

POACHER

Every successful team needs a finisher and the Whites have had their fair share down the years. One of the most popular goal-getters, John McGinlay, twice broke the 30-goal-a-season mark during his time at the club. McGinlay is tenth in the all-time list of Bolton goalscorers, with a tally of 118.

BACKROOM TEAM

In today's fast-paced modern game, and with a physically demanding Championship schedule, Wanderers have continued to put their emphasis on the conditioning of their players – and it is a dedicated close-knit backroom team that make sure the Whites are in the best shape possible for whenever they step out onto the pitch.

Manager Dougie Freedman takes pride in the fitness of his players, an essential quality which can help the Trotters reap the rewards on-the-field, but this cannot be achieved without the hard work completed off-the-field at Euxton training ground.

"It is our job to make sure the players are well conditioned to cope with the demands of the Championship," strength and conditioning coach Michael Rawson said. "We have a committed team who are all driving towards the same goal, to make sure the players are physically prepared to get the most out of them on a matchday.

"We speak daily with all of the players, attending to their medical needs throughout what is a hectic season. Games come thick and fast, and players will pick up the odd knock, and we have to make sure we get the individual back to match fitness as safely and efficiently as possible.”

Rawson is part of a devoted medical team consisting of the doctor, physiotherapists, soft tissue therapists, a strength and conditioning coach, a fitness coach and consultants for nutrition, yoga and acupuncture who all do their utmost to make sure the players are physically prepared for any eventuality.

“Within the medical department, we are all working together as a team,” Rawson added. “Doctor Jonathan Tobin heads it up and organises our day-to-day schedules, making sure that we are as efficient as possible with the time that we get with the players. We have daily meetings together to discuss all players, both injured and non-injured, to ensure they get the best possible care.”

The health and well-being of Bolton’s players is the number one concern for the backroom team. They spend a large share of their time assisting the injured players, aiding them in their rehabilitations back to full fitness.

But a player’s recovery isn’t left to just one individual as each member of the medical department play a specific role during a player’s overall rehabilitation. Rawson explained: “Head physiotherapist Andrew Mitchell and physio Luke Bussey take care of the injured players at first. They are solely responsible for the early and middle phases of their rehabilitation.

“Once the injury reaches a certain stage, I work more closely with them to get the injury as strong and as powerful as it needs to be before I pass them onto fitness coach Jimmy Barrow. He is responsible for all of the on-field conditioning making sure all the players are fit.

“He works on their overall cardiovascular fitness, and aims to improve their speed and agility before they return to training.

“The work with myself and the physios is still on-going even once they are back into full training as we try to ensure that the chances of re-injury are as low as possible.”

To help fight against a reoccurrence of a previous injury, or to avoid any new injuries developing, the team run an injury prevention programme.

The players are given individual prevention programmes based on their screening results, conducted at the start of a new campaign, as the backroom team map out their plans to keep the players healthy throughout a hectic footballing schedule.

Rawson added: “The screening is basically a series of tests that exam a player’s strength, flexibility and stability in all different areas of the body, predominantly the lower limbs.

“From these results we can put together a profile of the player as a whole to see which areas they need to work on. The injury prevention programmes are then created through a combination of their injury history, screening scores and more importantly any asymmetries - imbalances when comparing left to right.

“Using this information, we can work closely with the soft tissue therapists Dave Dean and Alan Watmough, so that the treatments they receive are specific to the players. For example, if a player has a particularly stiff left ankle, they will work on that ankle to mobilise it before training and before matches.

“There’s not a lot you can do about contact injuries or broken bones, but I provide the players with specific injury prevention programmes, which they do before training that focuses on specific individual weaknesses for each player.

“We also work very closely with our yoga instructor Mairwen Price to provide specific flexibility sessions for the players. These sessions aren’t your classic yoga sessions though, they are tailored to address issues caused by repeated football movements, and the players are grouped for these sessions based on their screening results.”

MASSIVE THANKS TO ALL LIFELINE MEMBERS

Despite the horrendous weather we have had over the last few weeks we still had a great turnout for the two Lifeline party nights. With over 1500 people in attendance the guests were treated to a full night of entertainment by local comedian Steve Royle plus the Main Acts for each night.

Our first night was Roy G Hemmings and The Dictionary of Soul, the dance floor was packed from the start of his set at 10.20pm through to his last song at midnight! He truly was a superstar and rightly so being one of the original members of The Drifters, nothing but the best for our supporters.

Our Northern Soul contingency came equipped with their flat shoes so they were able to move across the dance floor with ease.

Our second night on the Saturday was Groove Nation, a young band but not lacking in experience. Once again their set began just after 10pm and they were belting out hits from The Killers, Lady Marmalade and Rhianna a true mixture of music from all eras and all styles, a night for everyone.

De Vere Whites were fantastic on both nights ensuring all the guests were fed a hot buffet style meal which received many compliments on the night.

Finally we would like to thank everyone involved in making these nights a great success from the Lifeline Members that support us throughout the year, Gordon Clapperton at De Vere Whites and his staff who always do more than their best to help us accommodate the event and many of our members within the hotel, Kevin Peet for his DJ/Compering on the night plus full stage management and assistance in bringing our ideas to life, John Entwistle for taking photos on the night and last but not least the staff from the Promotions Department.

Once again thanks for your support. Should you wish to be part of the Lifeline please contact us on 01204 673774 for details or go to www.boltoncentral.co.uk/lotteries/
